1	2.50%	<input type="text"/>	My advisor's services were terrible. I contacted him as soon as I was admitted to start the process of signing up for classes; I received no reply for 2 weeks. I sent a follow up email and when he finally replied, he said he wouldn't be back in the office for a month and could not help me. I didn't have much time left before school started so there weren't many classes left in my major. When he did get back, I had already talked to someone else and she released me to sign up for classes. He still seemed like he didn't have time to answer my questions about my major. 1	2.50%	<input type="text"/>	Transformation was more awkward for me than helpful. The idea behind the program was great, but I felt that it was a lot of information that I had already knew. I also felt really strange being surrounded by a ton of people I didn't know, especially as a non-traditional student surrounded by "young-uns" who just finished their gen-eds at OTC. I'm not much help though because I have no suggestions to improve it.
1	2.50%	<input type="text"/>	When asking questions about FAFSA loans and billing information, I felt that the financial aid offices did not give satisfactory answers nor did they spend time trying to find the answers to my questions.
1	2.50%	<input type="text"/>	When I was finalizing my schedule, I noticed I was being charged out of state tuition. I went to the office of admission to find out what the problem was and the first person I talked to was quite frankly a little rude about me questioning why I was being charged out of state tuition. I was merely misinformed and needed to know what the guidelines were. The admissions worker was impatient with me and it was very frustrating. Thankfully, the head of admissions straightened it all out.
