Type of Course: General Education – Breadth of Knowledge: Public Affairs Focus on Cultural

Competence

Prerequisite: None

Description: Students in this course explore the impact of major historical events, the mores of various societies, and basic human nature on the development of mathematical knowledge. Parallels will be drawn to events in today's world to determine how each individual can foster the global advancement of knowledge. The level of mathematical and historical knowledge expected of incoming students does not exceed the level of traditional high school courses.

Philosophy: In The Story of Mathematics, Richard Mankiewicz claims that "the evolution of science, philosophy and mathematics, all related, is far more important to the history of humanity than a parade of rulers and a procession of wars." Many people today have no comprehension of what this evolutionary process has entailed. To help our students experience mathematics, and human knowledge in general, as an ongoing endeavor of humankind, this course is designed to explore the evolution of mathematical knowledge within the context of the culture and ethics of the times. Mathematical history can show us how this development has been affected by geography, wars, religion, society's views on equity, and the perseverance of the human spirit and how our ethics and values of today can inhibit or encourage continued development of human knowledge. In our quest to reach this understanding, students will be guided and encouraged to seek out information from reliable sources and topical experts.

Purpose of the Course: Students can take this course to meet the Focus on Cultural Competency portion of the Public Affairs requirement for General Education. This course is intended to meet Goal 13 and Goal 14 of the MSU General Education Learning Goals:

- General Goal (13): Students will be able to recognize and consider multiple perspectives and cultures.
- General Goal (14): Students will be able to articulate their value systems, understand the ethical implication of their actions based on those values, and develop skills consistent with having a positive impact on individuals, groups, or communities.

Required Textbook: Mankiewicz, R., (2000). The Story of Mathematics, Princeton University Press.

Additional Course Materials: Along with the required textbook, the instructor and students will use written and on-line sources to explore particular topics in more depth and to enhance the cultural experience with visual and auditory experiences.

Learning Objectives and Assessment: This course meets the General Education Learning Goals as indicated below. These goals will be assessed through quizzes, exams, presentations and research papers. Data will be collected by instructors following departmental guidelines developed by the curriculum team for this course.

MCU Learning Goal	MTH 121 Learning Objectives
MSU Learning Goal Cultural Competence (Goal 13) #2: Understand, critically examine, and articulate key similarities and differences between their own cultural practices and perspectives and those of other cultures,	Students will explore various events in the history of mathematics, focusing on the culture of the times and how we can learn from those situations to support the advancement of knowledge in our times.
past and present. Cultural Competence (Goal 13) #3: Identify the importance and best practices of developing skills for working/interacting with others.	Students will explore the competitive side of academic research as well as the occasional collaborations: Newton versus Leibniz; Tartaglia versus Cardano; Kepler and Brahe partnership; and, Einstein looks to the mathematicians of the day for assistance and finds what he needs within the new field of Non-Euclidean Geometry. Students will then consider how they can best support the advancement of human knowledge through their own actions and how society can best collectively support such advancement.

#4: Analyze the role that different	approximation of the measure of the Earth in about 230 BCE and trace the development of knowledge related to our place in the universe. Attention will be given to the impact of religion on this topic and how humankind arrived at the point where the common person believed the earth to be flat. Then, students apply this to today's world – how do our current beliefs, cultures and institutions shape the development of human knowledge? As students have the opportunity to see the impact of cultural mores and human actions on the development of mathematics over its history, they will be asked to evaluate their own ethical values and anticipate the effect their values would have on the development of human knowledge.
Ethical Leadership (Goal 14) #3: Identify areas of difficulty in responding to situations demanding ethical inquiry. Ethical Leadership (Goal 14) #4: Analyze complex ethical dilemmas facing the world.	Cultural bias, gender bias, and religious intolerance have all had a part in the history of mathematics. Students will explore the impact of these throughout history and the level to which they appear to still be affecting the development of human knowledge today. How can we respond to these same situations today? Students will explore the adage:

Pedagogical and Topical Aspects of the Course: This course should be presented in a variety of contexts. It can be a blended course with students accessing factual information outside of class, then discussing and analyzing contexts within class. Virtual tours can be made to explore locations and artifacts. Guest experts from various departments across campus can present on specific topics.

Topics can include:

- 1. contributions of major figures, such as: ancient Greek mathematicians, Archimedes, Gauss, and Newton
- 2. contents of important ancient texts such as the Rhind Papyrus or the Archimedes
- 3. the fragility of an axiomatic system or why we have to prove everything
- 4. development of the Hindu-Arabic numeral system
- 5. mathematics related to wars
- 6. the impact of religion on the development of mathematical knowledge
- 7. mathematics developed to measure the earth and stars
- 8. the effects of gender bias throughout the development of mathematical knowledge
- 9. the effect of laws against homosexuality on the life of a mathematician who saved lives, and possibly countries in World War II
- 10. famous theorems and problems throughout history, such as: Eratosthenes' approximation of the circumference of the earth, Euclid's Fifth Postulate, the Pythagorean Theorem, Fermat's Last Theorem.

Attendance: Due to the nature of this course, attendance to each class is critical. Students should make every effort to be in attendance at each session. In the event that you must miss class, you should contact the instructor for any items that were distributed during class. You should also contact a classmate to get any missed notes. In the event that the absence occurred on the day of an exam or a presentation that you are making, see below.

Homework and Quizzes: Homework may be given during any lesson. Unless stated otherwise, it will be due at the beginning of the class period immediately following assignment. A student will be granted two late assignments throughout the entire course, but you must request a date be extended by e-mailing the instructor.

Daily quizzes will be given at the discretion of the instructor. There is no make-up available for any of these quizzes.

Exams and Presentations: There will be a midterm and a final exam, both of which are cumulative in nature. ATTENDANCE IS MANDATORY ON THE DAY OF AN EXAM OR PRESENTATION!! PLAN BACK-UP TRANSPORTATION/CHILDCARE/ALARMS!!!! If a make-up exam option is granted, that exam may be more rigorous than the original exam.

Requirements to qualify to take a make-up exam or make a late presentation:

1. The instructor must be notified of the absence by e-mail or by office phone PRIOR TO THE START OF THE EXAM! The notification must be made as early as possible in the event of a schedule conflict that cannot be resolved. If notification prior to the exam was not possible, proper notification verifying that impossibility must be provided.

2. Documentation of absence MUST be provided! That documentation may include a doctor's notification indicating that the student was too ill to attend class that day; a note from a coach or faculty sponsor indicating a required school activity on that day; or a police report showing date and time of an occurrence that precludes attendance to class.

3. The STUDENT must initiate a request for a make-up exam or a time for a late presentation and either of these must be completed within one week of the missed in-class activity. Situations requiring extended time must be discussed with the instructor.

Grading: The course grade will be maintained in Blackboard and it is the student's right and responsibility to verify the accuracy of the entries. The grade is weighted according to the following scale:

	Percent of Course
Category	Grade
Homework and Quizzes	15%
Presentation/Project	20%
	15%
Research Paper	20%
Midterm Exam	30%
Comprehensive Final	100%
Total	100%

The course grade will be round to the nearest whole number and following grading scheme will be used:

	Α	93 to 100%
Excellent	Α-	90 to 92%
	B+	87 to 89%
Good	В	83 to 86%
	B-	80 to 82%
	C+	77 to 79%
Average	С	73 to 76%
(12717:97	C-	70 to 72%
	D+	67 to 69%
Inadequate	D	60 to 66%
Unacceptable	F	Below 60%

Dates for Dropping: ______ is the deadline to drop or withdraw from a full semester class.

The action of dropping the class is the responsibility of the student!! If you stop attending this class but do not follow proper procedure for dropping the class, you will receive a failing grade and will continue all financial obligations.

Academic Integrity: Missouri State University is a community of scholars committed to developing educated persons who accept the responsibility to practice personal and academic integrity. You are responsible for knowing and following the university's Student Academic Integrity Policies and Procedures, available at www.missouristate.edu/policy/academicintegritystudents.htm. You are also responsible for understanding and following any additional academic integrity policies specific to this class (as outlined below). Any student participating in any form of academic dishonesty will be subject to sanctions as described in this policy. If you are accused of violating this policy and are in the appeals process, you should continue participating in the class.

A current university student ID or valid photo driver's license will be required for the first exam. For purposes of test security, any student leaving the room during an exam will not be allowed to re-enter or to continue with the exam. On the day of the exam, if a student wears a hat, that hat must not have a bill that projects in front of the student's face. During any quiz or test, if a cell phone or a graphing calculator with CAS capability is present, when not specifically stated as allowed, the student will receive a zero on that assessment.

Nondiscrimination Policy: Missouri State University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action institution, and maintains a grievance procedure available to any person who believes he or she has been discriminated against. At all times, it is your right to address inquiries or concerns about possible discrimination to the Office for Equity and Diversity, Park Central Office Building, 117 Park Central Square, Suite 111, (417) 836-4252. Other types of concerns (i.e., concerns of an academic nature) should be discussed directly with your instructor and can also be brought to the attention of your instructor's Department Head. Please visit the OED website at www.missouristate.edu/equity/.

Disability Accommodation Policy: To request academic accommodations for a disability, contact the Director of the Disability Resource Center, Plaster Student Union, Suite 405, (417) 836-4192 or (417) 836-6792 (TTY), www.missouristate.edu/disability. Students are required to provide documentation of disability to the Disability Resource Center prior to receiving accommodations. The Disability Resource Center refers some types of accommodation requests to the Learning Diagnostic Clinic, which also provides diagnostic testing for learning and psychological disabilities. For information about testing, contact the Director of the Learning Diagnostic Clinic, (417) 836-4787, http://psychology.missouristate.edu/ldc.

Electronic Communication Devices: In respect of the learning environment, all pagers, cell phones and other electronic communication devices (not for assistance of a disabled student) must be turned off during class. Entertainment media and all electronic communication devices are not allowed during instruction or testing times. No video or audio recording of the lectures or conferences can be made without the prior knowledge of the instructor. In the case that a recording is needed, that record is solely for the use of that student and is not to be shared in any electronic media.

Emergency Response Information: Students who require assistance during an emergency evacuation must discuss their needs with their professors and Disability Services. If you have emergency medical information to share with me, or if you need special arrangements in case the building must be evacuated, please make an appointment with me as soon as possible.

For additional information, students should contact the Office of Disability Services at 836-4192 (PSU 405), or Larry Combs, Interim Assistant Director of Public Safety and Transportation at 836-6576. For further information on Missouri State University's Emergency Response Plan, please refer to the following website: http://www.missouristate.edu/safetran/erp.htm.

MTH 121 resubmission is a new course to the General Education Cultural Competence area of the revised general education. The revised application as well as the syllabus show clear alignment of the general education goals (GG13 and 14) as well as the Specific Learning Outcomes (SLO) selected for the course. There is a clear integration of the course goals with the general education SLOs within the syllabus. The assessment tools can be identified in the syllabus and appear able to be assessed through the course. NOTE: New Course Proposal form needs catalog description changes and approval by CNAS college council before this course can be forwarded to faculty senate for approval.

Department Physics, Astronomy and Materials Science

Proposed Certificate Computational Science

(Please complete a separate form for each level if the certificate will be offered at both levels.) Certificate Level: __X__ Undergraduate

- 1. Is the certificate program length at least 15 weeks for an undergraduate certificate or 10 weeks for a graduate certificate? X YES
- 2. Are the total credit hours for the certificate at least 16 credit hours for an undergraduate certificate or 8 hours for a graduate certificate? _____ YES

If you answered YES to BOTH questions, please complete the rest of the form. If you answered NO to either question, please skip the next section and proceed to the routing instructions (section C).

In compliance with the Federal Register regulation 34 CFR 668.6 (Gainful Employment Legislation), Section B - Federal Disclosure Compliance certificate programs that are financial aid eligible must prominently post certain information about the program. This information must be posted on the certificate program's website and referenced on any promotional materials for the program.

Projected Costs: Each of the courses, including all electives, are taught regularly and so the expected cost is considered negligible.

Courses:

PHY 291 Introduction to Computational Physics

Numerical and computer methods related to physics modeling and data analysis. Introduction of physics applications using symbolic, matrix, and Numerical and computer methods related to physics modeling and data analysis. Introduction of physics applications using symbolic, matrix, and spreadsheet software including programming. Programming applied directly to physical simulations. Recent advances in physics-related computing Prerequisite: MTH 280.

Programming and problem-solving using C++. Language constructs for assignment, flow control, input/output and functions are studied and CSC 125 Introduction to C++ Programming applied. Techniques of object-oriented programming are introduced.

MTH 421 Numerical Analysis I

Recommended Prerequisite: CSC 125 or CSC 130. Solution of systems of linear and nonlinear equations, interpolation, integration, approximation, Recommended Prerequisite: CSC 125 or CSC 130. Solution or systems of linear and nonlinear equations, interpolation, integration, approximation matrix computations. Problem solution will include the use of software. Identical with CSC 421. Cannot receive credit for both MTH 421 and CSC Prerequisite: MTH 280. 421.

MTH 422 Numerical Analysis II

Solution of initial and boundary value problems in ordinary and partial differential equations, simulation, and optimization. Problem solution will Prerequisite: MTH 303 and MTH 421. Solution of this and boundary value problems in ordinary and partial differential equations, simulation, a include the use of software, identical with CSC 422, Cannot receive credit for both MTH 422 and CSC 422.

Examples of electives

CHM 597 (topics) Chemical Bonding

Quantum mechanics; atomic and molecular structure; computational procedures. Independent study project required. Prerequisite: CHM 607.

Course Description:

Since liberalizing its economy, India has grown at a fast pace. Today, modern India stands in stark contrast with the old India. Thus, the objective of this course is to introduce the student to modern India with all its contradictions. It will explore India's history and culture. The course will also introduce the student to the promise and challenges that India faces as it continues to modernize. Students will travel to India and learn and experience the culture of India. They will also visit historical sites and learn about the historical forces that shaped modern India.

Course goals

A. As part of the Understanding of Culture and Society section of the General Education Program, IDS 397 seeks to meet the following Gen Ed goals:

Informed choices require knowledge of what people have done and imagined, currently as well as historically. Choices are also tempered by knowledge of the social and cultural settings in which they are made or were made in the past. This learning includes the following:

- 1. Knowledge of the many expressions of culture, including understanding of the unique shared ways of thinking, believing, and acting, developed by a people who live together over a long period of time ability to conceptualize and trace the influences of community, institutions, and other constructions such as class, gender, and race familiarity with the ways in which culture is expressed artistically, through literature, performance, and artifact awareness of and appreciation for the ways in which culture and society influence and are influenced by work and leisure
 - Understanding the sources and expression of diverse values throughout the world, including ethical, religious, aesthetic, political, and economic values as well as social and cultural priorities

3. Understanding the ways human choices affect communities, from local to global, and responsibilities of individuals to assume the duties of citizenship B. This particular course (IDS 397: Riding the Elephant: An Introduction to the History and Culture of India) seeks to meet the following course goals common to all IDS 397 courses; the Gen Ed goals to which the course goals correspond are indicated. To identify historical, social, and cultural events that shaped ___Indian_____ national identity and culture, as well a distinctive regional or minority identities and cultures. 2. To recognize important Indian cultural figures, and their more representative works, who have influenced Indian and international cultural products such as art, letters, and folklore. (Corresponds to Gen Ed goal 1 above) To improve critical thinking, research, organizational, and presentation skills. (Corresponds to Gen Ed goal 1 above) To explore aspects of historical and modern-day India influence on culture and the world. (Corresponds to Gen Ed goal 2 above) To obtain an understanding of the current events and key issues and concerns facing modern Indian _____ society. (Corresponds to Gen Ed goal 3 above)

Assessment:

This course requires from each student a written discussion (to be turned in to the MSU faculty teaching the course or to be submitted to the IDS 397 coordinator, Dr. Madeleine Hooper. Students will discuss how the general education goals outlined have been met and list specific activities (at least one per goal) that address each goal.

2. Content

- a. Examination(s): There will be no examination for this course
- Paper(s): Before leaving for India, each student will be writing a brief paper. The topics covered will range from India's economy, languages, population growth, history, culture, government and politics, wildlife and so on. The topic will be determined in consultation with the instructor.
- Reflection: This is an important component that will help students distinguish their study away experience from a vacation. The students will be required to maintain a journal. At the end of the course there will be a group discussion where the students will reflect on their experience and the impact that their experience had on them personally.

Course Syllabi/Policy Statements

Policy Statement: Governing Policy G3.03 Faculty Handbook (Section 4.5.1.2) requires that all course syllabi/policy statements include statements on nondiscrimination, disability accommodation, cheating and plagiarism, attendance and a cell phone policy. The suggested wording for these statements are listed below. Faculty who wish to compose their own wording or to expand on these statements must comply with the Faculty Handbook, relevant University policies, and state and federal laws. All updates to syllabi should be made prior to the beginning of the semester. In addition to statements that are required by the Faculty Handbook, suggested wording about other university policies, including the University's procedure for dropping classes is provided for faculty who might wish to include that information.

Reason or Purpose for Policy: To assist faculty in complying with Governing Policy 3.03 Faculty Handbook Section 4.5.1.2.

Center, Plaster Student Union, Suite 405, (417) 836-4192 or (417) 836-6792 (TTY), www.missouristate.edu/disability. Students are required to provide documentation of disability to the Disability Resource Center prior to receiving accommodations. The Disability Resource Center refers some types of accommodation requests to the Learning Diagnostic Clinic, which also provides diagnostic testing for learning and psychological disabilities. For information about testing, contact the Director of the Learning Diagnostic Clinic, (417) 836-4787, http://psychology.missouristate.edu/ldc.

Suggested wording for required statement on academic dishonesty: Missouri State University is a community of scholars committed to developing educated persons who accept the responsibility to practice personal and academic integrity. You are responsible for knowing and following the university's student honor code, Student Academic Integrity Policies and Procedures, available at www.missouristate.edu/policy/academicintegritystudents.htm and also available at the Reserves Desk in Meyer Library. Any student participating in any form of academic dishonesty will be subject to sanctions as described in this policy.

Note to instructors: Please be aware that the academic integrity policy requires that a student who is charged with academic dishonesty in a course be allowed to continue attending class and fulfilling course requirements while they exercise their right to appeal allegations of academic dishonesty. The student requirements while drey exercise their right to appear an egations of academic distributions. The student should receive a grade of "incomplete" in the course if an appeal from an allegation is still in progress at should receive a grade of "incomplete" in the course if an appeal from an allegation is still in progress at the end of the semester, or if the allegation of academic dishonesty is brought forward at the end of the semester. The grade of "Incomplete" remains on the transcript until the appeal is resolved. Note to instructors: Some academic programs, especially graduate programs, may have published policies regarding additional sanctions for academic dishonesty. All program-specific sanctions should be included in course policy statements.

Statement of attendance policy (REQUIRED - different for every instructor, no suggested wording is http://www.missouristate.edu/registrar/catalog/attendan.html. As stated in that policy, instructors must provide students with a written statement of the specific attendance policy for that class. The instructor has the responsibility to determine specific attendance policies for each course taught, including the role that attendance plays in the calculation of final grades and the extent to which work missed due to nonattendance can be made up. The University encourages instructors not to make attendance a disproportionately weighted component of the final grade, and also expects instructors to be reasonable in accommodating students whose absence from class resulted from: 1) participation in Universitysanctioned activities and programs; 2) personal illness; or 3) family and/or other compelling circumstances.

Suggested wording on dropping a class: (not required by the Faculty Handbook) It is your responsibility to understand the University's procedure for dropping a class. If you stop attending this class but do not follow proper procedure for dropping the class, you will receive a failing grade and will also be financially obligated to pay for the class. For information about dropping a class or withdrawing from the university, contact the Office of the Registrar at 836-5520. Faculty may also wish to include relevant drop deadlines. See Academic Calendars (www.missouristate.edu/registrar/acad_cal.html) for deadlines.

As a member of the learning community, each student has a responsibility to other students who are members of the community. When cell phones or pagers ring and students respond in class or leave class to respond, it disrupts the class. Therefore, the Office of the Provost prohibits the use by students of cell phones, pagers, PDAs, or similar communication devices during scheduled classes. All such devices must be turned off or put in a silent (vibrate) mode and ordinarily should not be taken out during class. Given the fact that these same communication devices are an integral part of the University's emergency notification system, an exception to this policy would occur when numerous devices activate simultaneously. When this occurs, students may consult their devices to determine if a university emergency exists. If that is not the case, the devices should be immediately returned to silent mode and put away. Other exceptions to this policy may be granted at the discretion of the instructor.

Statement of Grading policy (REQUIRED- different for every instructor, no suggested wording is REQUIRED TEXTBOOK: There is not a required text for this course.

PURPOSE OF THE COURSE:

A. As part of the Understanding of Culture and Society section of the General Education Program, IDS 397 seeks to meet the following Gen Ed goals:

Informed choices require knowledge of what people have done and imagined, currently as well as historically. Choices are also tempered by knowledge of the social and cultural settings in which they are made or were made in the past. This learning includes the following:

- 1. Knowledge of the many expressions of culture, including understanding of the unique shared ways of thinking, believing, and acting, developed by a people who live together over a long period of time ability to conceptualize and trace the influences of community, institutions, and other constructions such as class, gender, and race familiarity with the ways in which culture is expressed artistically, through literature, performance, and artifact awareness of and appreciation for the ways in which culture and society influence and are influenced by work and leisure
- Understanding the sources and expression of diverse values throughout the world, including ethical, religious, aesthetic, political, and economic values as well as social and cultural priorities
- Understanding the ways human choices affect communities, from local to global, and responsibilities of individuals to assume the duties of citizenship
- B. This particular course seeks to meet the following course goals common to all IDS 397 courses; the Gen Ed goals to which the course goals correspond are indicated.
- 1. To identify historical, social, and cultural events that shaped Vietnam national identity and culture, as well a distinctive regional or minority identities and cultures. (Corresponds to Gen Ed goal 1 above.)
- 2. To recognize important Vietnamese cultural figures, and their more representative works, who have influenced Vietnamese cultural products such as art, letters, and folklore. (Corresponds to Gen Ed goal 1
- 3. To improve critical thinking, research, organizational, and presentation skills. (Corresponds to Gen Ed goal
- 4. To explore aspects of historical and modern-day Vietnam and Vietnam's influence on culture and the world.
- 5. To obtain an understanding of the current events and key issues and concerns facing Vietnamese society. (Corresponds to Gen Ed goal 3 above)

COURSE ASSESSMENT:

This course requires from each student a written discussion (to be turned in to me or to be submitted to the IDS 397 coordinator, Dr. Madeleine Hooper). Students will discuss how the general education goals outlined have been met and list specific activities (at least one per goal) that address each goal.

A portfolio which illustrates and discusses specific cultural experiences (at least 4 ex. Transportation, medical, sanitation, education, political.....), or an exit interview.

ATTENDANCE/PROFESSIONALISM POLICY: Attendance will be taken by the instructor. You must attend class and participate fully in class activities. Each absence, or act of unprofessional conduct (including, but not limited to tardiness, sleeping in class, leaving/packing up early, wireless phone ringing, etc.) will be

In addition, students (whether in attendance or not) are responsible for catching up on all missed noted. Please notify me in case of an emergency situation. material, including explanations and modifications of this policy statement. Do not come to class late or leave early unless I am informed prior to the class meeting that you will miss. The following specific policies apply to assignments/quizzes:

- Each student must turn in their own assignments at the beginning of the class period when due (or earlier All graded assignments are due at the beginning of class on the due date.
- Late assignments earn zero points unless they are approved by me prior to the due date.
- Homework administration/grading policies are subject to change.

CLASSROOM BEHAVIOR. Students are expected to conduct themselves in a business professional manner during class. This includes showing respect for fellow students and the instructor. Behavior such as: excessive talking, giggling, noise making, sleeping in class, leaving class early, or arriving late for class can become disruptive to the class learning experience. Students are encouraged to schedule job interviews, and other appointments outside of class time. Individuals engaging in disruptive behavior (as determined by the appointments outside of class time. Individuals ongaging in disruptive contavior (as accommod by the instructor) can be expelled from the class (per the Missouri State University Undergraduate Catalog).

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY: Missouri State University is a community of scholars committed to developing educated persons who accept the responsibility to practice personal and academic integrity. You are responsible for knowing and following the university's student honor code, Student Academic Integrity Policies and Procedures, available at www.missouristate.edu/assets/provost/AcademicIntegrityPolicyRev-1-08.pdf and also available at the Reserves Desk in Meyer Library. Any student participating in any form of academic dishonesty will be subject to Academic dishonesty in this course includes using unauthorized materials during an exam, removing unauthorized materials following an exam, communicating with students in other sections regarding material given on exams and quizzes, offering a false excuse when seeking quiz/exam rescheduling, and turning in work completed by another person as being their own work, including exam answers. I will go to great lengths to punish offenders to the fullest extent.

Students who require assistance during an emergency evacuation must discuss their needs with their professors and Disability Services. If you have emergency medical information to share with me, or if you need special arrangements in case the building must be evacuated, please make an appointment with me as soon as possible.

For additional information students should contact the Office of Disability Services, 836-4192 (PSU 405), or Larry Combs, Interim Assistant Director of Public Safety and Transportation at 836-6576.

For further information on Missouri State University's Emergency Response Plan, please refer to the following web site: http://www.missouristate.edu/safetran/erp.htm.

NON-DISCRIMINATION POLICY: Missouri State University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action institution, and maintains a grievance procedure available to any person who believes he or she has been discriminated against. At all times, it is your right to address inquiries or concerns about possible discrimination to the Office for Institutional Equity and Compliance, Park Central Office Building, 117 Park Central Square, Suite 111, (417) 836-4252. Other types of concerns (i.e., concerns of an academic nature) should be discussed directly with your instructor and can also be brought to the attention of your instructor's Department Head. Please visit the OED website at www.missouristate.edu/equity/.

POLICY ON USE OF CELL PHONES IN CLASSES: As a member of the learning community, each student has a responsibility to other students who are members of the community. When cell phones or pagers ring and students respond in class or leave class to respond, it disrupts the class. Therefore, the Office of the Provost prohibits the use by students of cell phones, pagers, PDAs, or similar communication devices during scheduled classes. All such devices must be turned off or put in a silent (vibrate) mode and ordinarily should not be taken out during class. Given the fact that these same communication devices are an integral part of the University's emergency notification system, an exception to this policy would occur when numerous devices activate simultaneously. When this occurs, students may consult their devices to determine if a university emergency exists. If that is not the case, the devices should be immediately returned to silent mode and put away. Other exceptions to this policy may be granted at the discretion of the instructor.

My additional policy is that cell phones should be prevented from ringing during class. During exams cell phones are NOT to be used as calculators, and are NOT to be on table tops.

Sanctions for violation of this policy are determined by the instructor and may include dismissal from the class – see Class Disruption (http://www.missouristate.edu/recreg/classdis.html). In testing situations, use of cell phones or similar communication devices may lead also to a charge of academic dishonesty and additional sanctions under the Student Academic Integrity Policies and Procedures (http://www.missouristate.edu/acadaff/AcademicIntegrity.html).

There are two appeal processes available to students. A sanction for class disruption may be appealed using the appeal process stated in the Class Disruption policy; however, a violation that involves a charge of academic appear process sauce in the Class Distancian policy, however, a violation that hivorves a charge of aband dishonesty must be appealed using the process described in the Student Academic Integrity Policies and dishonesty must be appealed using the process described in the Student Academic Integrity Policies and Procedures. Students have the right to continue attending class while an appeal is in progress.

COMMUNICATION: I use the Blackboard website (blackboard missouristate edu) to maintain your grade, post announcements, and communicate with you outside of class.

You are responsible for all Blackboard announcements and e-mails sent to your e-mail and/or Bearmail account.

A grade of "I" (incomplete) is given in only very extreme cases--a hospital stay, for example. It is NOT the easy way out for skipping class and then not hurting a grade point average.

PLEASE Exchange information with two students and get course notes from them if you miss class.

This course requires from each student a written discussion, to be turned in to the instructor, Ruth Barnes. Students will discuss how the general education goals outlined have been met and list specific activities (at least one per goal) that addressed each goal.

Students will submit a written essay as well as a portfolio (hard copy or digital). The essay will discuss at least three specific cultural experiences (for example; the arts, transportation, health, education, politics...). The portfolio should include documentation of performances attended and exhibitions viewed, with response pieces (written document or performance). Photography and videography are strongly encouraged, as well as written

Note: The portfolio may take the form of a blog, in which students post daily entries on a blog, with detailed descriptions and analysis of their experience, with emphasis on who, what, when, and why

This course is an overview in the study and practice of the discourse conventions of writing about Course Description: dramatic literature and performance from the perspective of an educated generalist in the field. Students will hone skills of research, analysis, and argumentation in order to become more skillful theatre patrons, historians, and critics.

This section will use a series of everyday life performance strategies to explore the related themes of community health, social well-being, and effective communication in order to affect positive change in people's attitudes and behaviors. Faculty and students define the issues to be addressed through in people's annual and benaviors. Laciny and statement the so-called "In-Yer-Face" readings, discussion, in-class exercises, and projects. This course will use the so-called "In-Yer-Face" theatre movement, a moniker coined by Aleks Sierz, a British theatre critic from Boston University's London Graduate in Journalism program, as a lens for discussion. Additionally, the plays of British authors writing in this sub-genre will be read and discussed. No formal performance training is necessary - only a willingness to experiment and explore new techniques, and a desire to help society in creative ways.

We will focus on the process of developing an essay about theatre, studying and developing the skills needed to draft and polish a successful essay: the ability to do close critical reading; the ability to Purpose of Course: formulate an effective, interesting thesis question; the ability to develop and fully support a coherent, compelling paper; and the ability to present your argument in a manner that is consistent and Writing is one of the essential skills that mark an educated person. Like all true skills, becoming a writer is a lifelong process. This class will focus, therefore, on that process. There will be writing stylistically clear. assignments, either in class or out of class. In addition, a good deal of work will be done using London as classroom, either as a large group or in smaller groups.

Students will be required to share their work with the class to workshop in small groups. Remember always that respect is the first word of the day. Almost everyone is sensitive to criticism about their writing, but at the same time, almost no one can become a better writer without criticism. Be honest, but gentle, with others about their work.

We will read published works and discuss your writing, all the while paying careful attention to style and technique as we get in the practice of asking the questions that are essential in the crafting of real-life or socially-relevant material: What do we consider risky? Where is the boundary between self-revelation and exhibitionism? What responsibility do we have to history? How do our obligations as writers change? As artists? My hope is that when we apprentice ourselves to the work on our reading list, we will practice the habit of art, honing our technical skills while we locate the patterns in our lives that have something to say about the human condition.

Suggested Texts (British Perspective):

We will read excerpts from the following texts:

Additional Course Objectives for the London Program:

The primary objectives of the course are to increase students' awareness/understanding of, and skills for addressing the issues of community well-being through the use of informed interdisciplinary performance methods.

Related student objectives include the following:

- 1. to develop, through readings, discussion and exercises a conceptual understanding of the link between individual behavior and social consequence, an understanding of the link between personal choice and public influence, as well as an appreciation of the links between art and advocacy, and between art and catharsis as each of these relate to the area of community well-
- 2. to acquire, through active-learning exercises such as in-class improvisational performance as well as readings, discussions, written work, and exams, a knowledge of and skills in performance-based problem-solving techniques with which to address complex issues of self and social well-

- 3. to gain, through viewing of three performances, a cognitive knowledge of a variety of interdisciplinary, applied-performance techniques, including psychodrama, sociodrama, spectacting, playback theatre, first-hand narrative, and trigger-scripting.
- 4. to obtain, through discussion and projects, knowledge in specific topic emphases of the class section as determined by instructors and students.
- 6. to gain knowledge and experience in formulating health and well-being questions to be addressed through selection/design of a performance/research project, setting goals for implementing that design, gathering and evaluating accurate and up-to-date information on which to build the project, executing and evaluating the results of the project.
- 7. to gain knowledge and experience in selecting and executing an appropriate performance method with which to address the final project question; to make appropriate choices and to evaluate those choices in the project's design and execution, to pursue the project in a wellinformed, open-minded, imaginative and reflective and persistent manner; to learn from and to tolerate ambiguity in the process.
- 8. to gain knowledge and skills in written communication through the written components of the class, including the written rationale, statement of intent and description of design, and, the written responses to assignments throughout the class, and reflective papers and/or written
- 9. to gain knowledge and skills in speaking and non-verbal communication through the oral/physical components of the class including participation in exercises of performance methods and presentation of the final project.
- 10. to stimulate self-reflective awareness through responses to assignments, of one's individual behaviors, skills, and unconscious biases; to recognize and explore the range of choices available for use in forging one's personal and public "selves;" and to demonstrate reflexivity in understanding one's role in public affairs.

 - To obtain an understanding of the current events and key issues and concerns facing English society. (Corresponds to Gen Ed goal A.3 above. See also "Related Student Objectives" 6, 7, and 10):

Pre-Departure Meeting - There will be a required meeting during the final days of the spring semester. This meeting will be an opportunity for attendees to meet each other and discuss lastminute details. The meeting will also include a discussion of the course requirements, a brief review of pre-reading materials, and an historical overview of the "In-Yer Face" movement.

Performances - There will be three scheduled performances in London's West End selected to enhance the historical and cultural aspects of this course and are therefore required.

Writing Assignments - There will be several short response papers over the text materials, class discussions, peer works, and performances. 6

Reading Assignments - Students are expected to read the text excerpts and any articles e-mailed to them prior to attending class in London. Points will be awarded for participation in class discussions and for quizzes over the reading assignments.

Creative Non-Fiction Paper - In addition to the short assignments, there will be an autobiographical writing project. Autobiographical works should also be saved in Microsoft Word format for possible inclusion on the course website. The paper will focus on the shaping of real lives on the page and the navigation of those slippery spaces between remembering and forgetting, truth and invention. In order to write well, we must read, and so we will split our time between workshopping your papers and discussion of published memoirs. This narrative will then be adapted into a performance mode for possible presentation. See below.

General Education Component – This course requires from each student a written discussion (to be turned in to the Michael Frizell, Instructor), a discussion of how the general education goals outlined have been met and list specific activities (at least one per goal outlined above) that addressed each Content - A portfolio which illustrates and discusses specific cultural experiences (at least four examples: Transportation, Medical, Sanitation, Education, Political, etc.), or an exit interview.

Final Meeting Presentation - As a final project, students may perform their narrative for the class, utilizing, should they desire, costumes, props, and other visual aids. Alternative projects may be available and will be presented at a final meeting prior to the start of the fall 2012 semester. More details will be presented at the pre-departure meeting.

Rationale: Construction management is a multi-disciplinary field of study that may attract the interest of several groups of students. Students studying interior design, facility management, real estate & property development, civil engineering, or other fields related to the built environment could benefit from a minor that allows them to extend their expertise into the area of construction management. As many of these majors are housed in different departments and colleges, creating a minor in construction management will allow students to easily obtain a specialization that may complement their existing studies without the need to add a secondary major (an option that would easily take several more years). In addition, demand for students with construction industry training and/or experience is near record highs and this minor will help better match

Objectives: This proposed minor is designed to fit the needs of students with an interest in the built students with companies ready to hire. environment, but who are not ready to commit to a full four-year degree program. The objectives of the new

- minor in construction management include:
- 1. Expose students to the basic fundamentals of construction management. Encourage students to explore the many different career paths within the construction industry.
 - 3. Increase multi-disciplinary interaction in the classroom between the various industry stakeholders (e.g.,
 - 4. Increase enrollment within the construction management degree program. owners, architects, engineers, contractors, etc.).

Since this minor is geared towards fully utilizing the existing faculty, there are no anticipated additional costs Estimated Costs for First Five Years involved for teaching. While one new course (TCM 123) will be created, the program has been designed to take non-construction management majors currently in the lab-based TCM 121 and TCM 122 and have them enroll in TCM 123 – the non-lab based equivalent. Overall combined enrollment counts for TCM 121, TCM 122, and TCM 123 should increase within the existing capacity. If enrollment trends exceed proposed targets, class sizes for TCM 123, TCM 221, TCM 324, TCM 226, TCM 425, TCM 427, and TCM 454 can be easily increased as there are no required laboratory components and existing facilities can accommodate larger class sizes. In the case of the TCM 223, a course with laboratory experiences, openings in existing sections, or returning to Fall and Spring delivery are both possibilities.
