Courses taught online have a higher tuition rate, some programs charge additional fees for their courses and some courses have supplemental fees.

² Rate shown is an average of on-campus options at 2020-2021 rates.

⁴ This is an estimate based on average mileage reported by our students.

⁵ Includes costs not directly billed by the university, such as living expenses.

⁶ Fees assessed by the Department of Education for Direct Stafford loans. Applies only to borrowers.

The Cost of Attendance is an average figure used to determine financial need and aid eligibility. It is not how much all students actually pay for school (in fact, most students pay much less). Your costs will vary based on a number of decisions you make such as the number of hours in which you enroll, the residence hall you select, if you live on-campus or commute from a parent's house, etc. For these reasons, it is important to determine your own costs using MSU's cost worksheet found on your my.missouristate.edu account.

Types of financial aid

Scholarships: Scholarships are gift funding that don't need to be paid back. Some are awarded based on accomplishments, others on financial need. Be sure to notify us if you receive any outside scholarships so they can be included in your aid package.

Grants: Grants are also funds you won't have to repay. Grants are based on financial need so it's important to submit your FAFSA every year in order to qualify for the funding. The most common grants MSU students receive are the Federal Pell Grant and the Access Missouri Grant.

Loans: Many students borrow loans to help pay for college. Loans are money that you borrow and pay back over time with interest. Most federal loans have low interest rates and don't need to be repaid until after you leave college.

Subsidized Loans: Subsidized loans are federal loans that are interest-free until after graduation and don't require a credit check. Interest rates for subsidized loans originated during the 2020-2021 are fixed at 2.75%.

Unsubsidized Loans: Unsubsidized loans are also borrowed from the federal government. Unsub loans do accrue interest while you are in school, but payments are not required until after you graduate or fall below half-time enrollment status. Interest rates for unsubsidized loans originated during the 2020-2021 are fixed at 2.75%.

Credit-Based Education Loans: Any loan that you or another eligible borrower may apply for through a federal or private source. The amount available is determined by subtracting all other possible aid from your total cost of attendance.
