Welcome

To our Graduates, Family and Friends:

Congratulations on reaching this pivotal moment. The whole world stretches before you. Anything is possible.

Your path from this moment will undoubtedly take unexpected detours. I hope you will allow the lessons learned in and out of the classroom to guide you as you move onward and upward, making your Missouri Statement.

You have invested years learning Missouri State’s public affairs mission. It is my greatest hope that you will put that learning into practice; that you will be culturally competent, ethical leaders who are actively engaged in your communities, wherever they may be. I am confident that you will make your university community proud.

Today’s ceremony celebrates your considerable accomplishment in completing a degree program at one of the country's best universities. I share your pride and excitement. Your degree — and the skills and experience you acquired while at Missouri State — will serve you well in your careers and lives.

It has been a privilege to have you as part of our community, and Missouri State is better for your time and efforts here. As you take this next step, your involvement at Missouri State is not ending. In many ways, it is just beginning as you transition from being a student to an alumnus. I hope you express pride in your alma mater and come back to visit us on campus.

Good luck, best wishes, and Go Bears!

SCHOLASTIC HONORS

Special distinction for high scholarship is awarded to certain undergraduate students as follows:

Summa cum laude (with highest honor) for those who have a grade point average of at least 3.90.

Magna cum laude (with great honor) for those who have a grade point average between 3.75 and 3.89.

Cum laude (with honor) for those who have a grade point average between 3.50 and 3.74.

The GPA is based on the lowest of the student’s Missouri State cumulative GPA or the student’s combined (Missouri State and transfer) cumulative GPA. Students must complete a minimum of 60 undergraduate credit hours prior to graduation at Missouri State University to be eligible for scholastic honors. Students meeting the above GPA criteria at the close of the semester immediately preceding their final semester of college work are honored at commencement ceremonies. The final eligibility of students for scholastic honors is based on credit hour totals and grade point averages at the end of the semester of graduation. Final eligibility is recorded on the University diploma and transcript.

These students are identified by a cordon worn with their academic regalia. The colors designating the honors are: summa cum laude, gold; magna cum laude, silver; cum laude, maroon.

Scholastic honors eligibility for candidates in the Cooperative Engineering Program are based on Missouri University of Science and Technology scholastic honors requirements.

VETERANS RECOGNITION

Graduation candidates who have served or will serve in the United States military are identified with a red, white and blue cordon.

Jennifer Moore is an award-winning journalist and the News Director and Content Coordinator for the NPR station serving the Ozarks region, KSMU Radio. She studied Arabic and history at the American University in Cairo and graduated from the University of Missouri School of Journalism before spending five years in the Persian Gulf region. While there, she contributed to CNN-International, NPR, and the largest English daily newspaper in the region, The Gulf News, as a freelance journalist, reporting on human rights abuses of domestic workers and the humanitarian toll of the second Iraq War.

After returning to the United States in 2007, she worked as a reporter, anchor and assignment editor for KSMU Radio in Springfield. She has received the Excellence in Legal Journalism Award from The Missouri Bar, a national Edward R. Murrow Award for coverage of the Joplin tornado, and the 2013 Honorable Mention for the Toner Prize for Excellence in Political Reporting. Currently, she works with a team at Ozarks Public Broadcasting to make sure the Ozarks region has in-depth news about our region, Washington, D.C., and the world. She also reports as a contributor for NPR on national stories from the Ozarks.

One of five siblings, Jennifer grew up on a farm outside West Plains, Missouri; her Master’s Degree from Missouri State University blended Middle Eastern politics and journalism, and she taught international reporting and storytelling at Missouri State as the university’s Journalist-in-Residence. She lives in Springfield and in her spare time, she enjoys exploring new places, fly fishing, and spending time with her family.

ZORA MULLIGAN

Zora Mulligan was appointed Commissioner of Higher Education by the Coordinating Board for Higher Education in August 2016. She is responsible for leading the Missouri Department of Higher Education.

She previously served as chief of staff for the University of Missouri System, executive director of the Missouri Community College Association, assistant commissioner and general counsel for the Missouri Department of Higher Education, and assistant attorney general for the Missouri Attorney General’s Office.

A native of West Plains, Missouri, Mulligan holds bachelor’s degrees in political science and psychology from Drury College and a master’s degree in education and Juris Doctorate (JD) from the University of Kansas.
As executive vice president and chief accreditation officer for AACSB, Dr. Stephanie Bryant is a part of AACSB’s executive leadership team and provides vision, leadership, and oversight of AACSB’s accreditation-related services for 836 of the best business schools in the world. Additionally, she coordinates some 550 volunteers from business schools and businesses who play an essential role in helping schools achieve their mission through accreditation. As an established scholar and thought leader, Bryant acts as spokesperson around the world and advocate for the advancement of quality business and accounting education and engages business stakeholders to help business schools prepare future leaders with the right skills and mindset to lead in a changing, diverse, and global world.

Before joining AACSB in 2017, Bryant served as dean of the College of Business at Missouri State University. During her tenure, enrollment grew by 890 students to 5,500 students, making it one of the largest colleges of business at any public university in the central Midwest. Also under her leadership, Glass Hall was renovated and the Robert Gourley Student Success Center was built. With over two decades of experience as a professor and in college administration, she is a highly respected researcher and scholar. Her area of academic specialty is accounting information technology security and control, and she has coauthored two textbooks and more than 30 academic articles.

Bryant received her PhD and BS in accounting from Louisiana State University and is a Louisiana CPA (inactive). She was named to the inaugural class of Biz 417’s Women Who Mean Business, and twice named to Biz 417 Top 100 Most Powerful and Influential Business Leaders in Southwest Missouri. She was also named one of Springfield’s Most Influential Women.

Bryant is an active supporter of Missouri State and considers it her real college home. She is a fan of all Bear sports but has a special place in her heart for all Lady Bears sports. She subscribes to the motto “Once a Bear, Always a Bear.”
The Academic Dress

The history of academic dress goes back to the Medieval European universities of the fourteenth century. European universities continue to follow varied patterns in cut and color of gown and type of headdress. In the United States the colleges and universities have standardized the academic dress so that its features are common and uniform throughout the country. The standard dress in the United States is as follows:

The Gown. At Missouri State University, bachelor's degree gowns are maroon and the master's and doctoral degree gowns are black. The pattern varies with the degree held; pointed sleeves for the bachelor's degree; long, closed sleeves with a slit for the arm for the master's degree; and round, open sleeves for the doctoral degree. The doctoral gown is faced down the front with velvet and three bars across the sleeves.

The Hood. Hoods are not worn for the bachelor's degree. The master's hood is shorter than the doctoral hood and lacks the panels of the doctoral hood. Hoods are lined with the colors of the school granting the degree, while the color of the binding or edging of the hood indicates the subject in which the degree was attained. The colors designating the subject of the degree are:

Arts and Letters.................................................................................................................................................................................White
Theology............................................................................................................................................................................................Scarlet
Laws................................................................................................................................................................................................Purple
Medicine.............................................................................................................................................................................................Green
Music............................................................................................................................................................................................Pink
Engineering......................................................................................................................................................................................Orange
Library Science................................................................................................................................................................................Lemon
Philosophy..................................................................................................................................................................................Dark Blue
Science.....................................................................................................................................................................................Gold-Yellow
Fine Arts..................................................................................................................................................................................Brown
Education..................................................................................................................................................................................Light Blue
Economics................................................................................................................................................................................Copper
Physical Education...............................................................................................................................................................Sage Green
Business..................................................................................................................................................................................Drab
Agriculture...........................................................................................................................................................................Maize
Nursing..................................................................................................................................................................................Apricot
Public Administration......................................................................................................................................................Peacock Blue

The Cap. At Missouri State University, bachelor's degree candidates wear a maroon mortarboard.

Members of the Board of Governors are uniformly attired in Governors' robes. The gown is maroon with velvet chevrons and panels. The hood is lined with maroon and white – the colors of Missouri State University.

Academic dress markedly different from the above description indicates a degree from a foreign university.
