Disability Studies Minor (interdisciplinary)
Statement of Financial Support

After concerns raised at Faculty Senate about the support for the teaching of DAS 100, a new three hour course that will be added to existing courses to comprise the new Disability Studies Minor, support from two Deans was clarified that will enable the new class to be taught in-load by regular full-time faculty during the fall and spring semesters. From the College of Education, Dr. Tami Arthaud, with support from Dean David Hough, has committed faculty from CLSE to teach the DAS 100 in-load in either the fall or spring semester. Similarly, Department Heads Dr. Chris Herr and W.D. Blackmon from Theater and Dance and English, with support from Dean Gloria Galanes, have also agreed to commit a faculty from COAL to teach the new course in-load in either the fall or spring semesters as part of a coordinated plan with COE provided there is sufficient enrollment. Thus, one section of DAS 100 will be offered during both the fall and spring semesters, with one college contributing to the offering in each semester.

The Disability Studies Minor will be housed in CHPA and administered by Dean Matthews or his designee. The combination of supports from these three colleges and agreed upon by all three Deans assures that no faculty will be asked to take on an additional class that would place them in an overload situation in accord with the university workload policy.

Program Title and Degree: __Disability Studies Minor (interdisciplinary)____

Department: __SOC&ANT / THE&DAN (CHPA)____

Attach on separate sheets (1) statement of rationale and objectives, (2) estimated costs for first five years, and (3) complete catalog description (including new courses and course changes pending approval). [Note: For new programs requiring CEHE approval, CEHE forms NT, TS, and PG will satisfy #1 and CEHE form FP will satisfy #2.]

1. Is another program being deleted or altered? ___Yes ___X__No

2. If this program affects other departments or colleges, has a memo showing how it will affect them been attached to the proposal? ___Yes ___X__No

The Disability Studies Minor affects other departments by including course(s) from their programs in this minor. This may help maintain or increase enrollments over time in these courses.

3. What justification is being provided to support this proposal? (Current research, accreditation, certification or licensing requirements, other.)

As part of Missouri State University's commitment to Inclusive Excellence, the Disability Studies Faculty Committee seeks to create an Interdisciplinary Disability Studies minor. This minor proposal is based on a socio-political model with medical elements as integrated content within the model. Disability Studies is an emerging field that benefits our students and the wider community (see DAS 100 Bibliography for current research). It will be listed as one of the Area Studies Minors in CHPA so it will expand these options.

4. If your response to #3 refers to existing or potential student demand, please indicate the activities undertaken to estimate or verify the potential or existing demand for this new program.

A Student Survey taken in 5 different courses from 3 different colleges indicated a 63% interest rate. A workshop and e-mail request resulted in identifying at least 20 faculty members across the 6 colleges with an interest in providing courses for this minor.

5. What are the present/future projected enrollments for this program?

1st year: n/a 3rd year: 15 - 20

In five years, how many students must be:

s) declared minors to justify this new minors continuation

b) declared majors to justify this new majors continuation

6. Which of the following would be needed to implement the proposed program? (Check all that apply.) Individuals responsible for specific areas outside of your college must be consulted.

Additional library holdings? ___Yes ___X__No

Additional technology or other supplies? ___Yes ___X__No

Additional or remodeled facilities? ___Yes ___X__No

Additional travel funds? ___Yes ___X__No
7. Have the individuals responsible for allocation of these resources been contacted to ensure the availability of these resources by the time the program is implemented?

__X__ Yes  __No  ___Yes, but cannot ensure availability

8. Referring to question 6, if additional faculty are not required, please provide a statement as to how faculty will be made available to teach proposed new courses, if any, or to manage increased enrollments in existing courses which are to be included in the proposed new program.

With the exception of the required new course DAS 100, all other courses identified for inclusion in this minor are existing courses that are regularly offered or are optional courses (DAS 307 and DAS 407) which are offered either at the convenience of the instructor or as an individual study as a courtesy course. At least three faculty members, Drs. Jamaine Abidogan, History; Telory Davies, Theater; Shannon Wooden, English, are identified to offer the DAS 100 course as part of their load on a rotating basis, so it does not interfere with their current course loads.

9. If the responses to question 1 and any parts of question 6 other than additional faculty are "no," please provide a statement as to how the department/school (or center or college) will manage the enrollment figures provided in question 5.

Enrollment figures and administrative oversight for this minor is under the Associate Dean for the College of Humanities and Public Affairs. The Disability Studies Faculty Committee will address any curricular matters related to the minor.

The signature of the individuals listed below ensures that the items above have been addressed and the resources needed will be made available when the program is implemented.

Disability Studies Minor – Rationale and Objectives (Attachment 1)

As part of Missouri State University's commitment to Inclusive Excellence, the Disability Studies Faculty Committee seeks to create an Interdisciplinary Disability Studies minor. It is an addition to CHPA Areas Studies Programs. This minor proposal is based on a socio-political model with medical elements as integrated content within the model. Disability Studies Minor includes interdisciplinary content, research, and engagement that de-stigmatizes disability by demonstrating the complexity of the social, historical, cultural, political, legal, and medical interactions and influences that create socio-political constructions and continuums related to disability. This minor as an emerging field will serve to benefit Missouri State University faculty, staff, students and the wider community (see DAS 100 Bibliography for current research).

Objectives:

• Develop an understanding of historical and contemporary perceptions of disability
• Identify and appreciate disability culture and its diversity and contributions of persons with disability in society
• Analyze and Evaluate how policies and laws historically and currently influence people with disabilities
• Analyze and critique the various societal and theoretical representations of disability including moral, medical and social models.
• Understand disability as an aspect of diversity that exists across other diverse groups
• Identify and apply the principles of Universal Design across various contexts, i.e. home, work, school, public spaces, etc.
• Prepare students to participate effectively in an inclusive society

Modern Language (Non-Comprehensive)
Bachelor of Science*

Students pursuing the Bachelor of Science in Modern Language (Non-Comprehensive) complete 33 hours of coursework in a single modern language and a minor. This flexible structure enables students to achieve advanced proficiency in at least one modern language, to understand the cultural factors that affect how members of other language communities view the world and express themselves, to analyze and interpret target-language texts and other cultural products, and to apply those skills and insights in a variety of professional and academic settings.

A. General Education Requirements - see General Education Program and Requirements section of catalog.
B. Major Requirements (39 hours)
   1. MCL 200(3)
   2. Complete 33 hours in coursework beyond the 102 level in a single modern language, as approved by an advisor (language courses at the 101 or 102 level may not be counted toward this major)
   3. Modern Language Capstone: MCL 495(3)
C. Minor Required (or second major). A minor chosen from within the Department of Modern and Classical Languages must be in a different language than the major.
D. General Baccalaureate Degree Requirements - see General Baccalaureate Degree Requirements section of catalog.

* Students who wish to complete a Bachelor of Arts in a language may pursue an individualized major.

Attach on separate sheets (1) statement of rationale and objectives, (2) estimated costs for first five years, and (3) complete catalog description (including new courses and course changes pending approval). [Note: For new programs requiring CBHE approval, CBHE forms NP, PS, and PG will satisfy #1 and CBHE form FP will satisfy #2.] These CBHE forms are attached to this proposal.

1. Is another program being deleted or altered?  __X___Yes ___No
2. If this program affects other departments or colleges, has a memo showing how it will affect them been attached to the proposal?  __X___Yes ___No

(Significant communication took place with all of the affected departments, and each has submitted a letter of support.)

3. What justification is being provided to support this proposal? (Current research, accreditation, certification or licensing requirements, other.)

This program is being proposed in order to streamline our current academic offerings, which comprise nine degree programs in the modern languages. The current proposal contemplates consolidating those programs into two (really a single program, but with comprehensive and non-comprehensive versions). For further explanation and justification, please refer to the Statement of Rationale and Benefits and other documentation that is part of the package to be submitted to the CBHE.

4. If your response to #3 refers to existing or potential student demand, please indicate the activities undertaken to estimate or verify the potential or existing demand for this new program.

Student demand is implicit in this proposal, but as stated above, more than a new program, this proposal is a consolidation of existing programs. Therefore, the department is confident that demand will be consistent with the aggregate demand for and enrollments in its current programs. (See MDHE Form SE and other documentation that is part of the package to be submitted to the CBHE for further information regarding demand and enrollment projections.)

5. What are the present/future projected enrollments for this program? (See also Form SE.)

1st year _140 (based on current programs)_
3rd year _145_

In five years, how many students must be:

a) declared minors to justify this new minors continuation  __n/a__

b) declared majors to justify this new majors continuation  _140 (i.e., sustain at least current level)_
6. Which of the following would be needed to implement the proposed program? (Check all that apply.) Individuals responsible for specific areas outside of your college must be consulted.

7. Have the individuals responsible for allocation of these resources been contacted to ensure the availability of these resources by the time the program is implemented?

  - X Yes
  - No
  - Yes, but cannot ensure availability

8. Referring to question 6, if additional faculty are not required, please provide a statement as to how faculty will be made available to teach proposed new courses, if any, or to manage increased enrollments in existing courses which are to be included in the proposed new program.

Current departmental faculty resources are sufficient to staff courses in our current programs, and we anticipate that no new resources will be needed as we transition to the proposed program design. If meeting increased demand becomes an issue, particularly in Spanish, the department will advocate for a search to replace Dr. Jason Jolley, who is now department head and whose line was absorbed by COAL.

9. If the responses to question 1 and any parts of question 6 other than additional faculty are "no," please provide a statement as to how the department/school (or center or college) will manage the enrollment figures provided in question 5.

Again, it is important to consider that this proposal relates to a degree program that is essentially a reconfiguration of several existing programs. Therefore, no additional resources (of the kind referred to in question 6) are needed.

The signature of the individuals listed below ensures that the items above have been addressed and the resources needed will be made available when the program is implemented.

General Education Courses Recommended: Total Hours 9-9 (43-52 total)

Requirements (Including Admission) and Limitations for Specific Degree:

Courses Required in Department: Specific courses and hours will vary depending on option selected, and Limitations for Specific Degree:

All students: MCL 200 (3), 33 hours beyond 102 level in a modern language (primary language focus, requirement B-1b), and MCL 495 (3). Students pursuing the Teacher Education option will also take MCL 413 (3), MCL 493 (6) and MCL 496 (6). See attached documents for further details.

Total Hours 39-54

Courses Required in Other Departments: Specific courses and hours will vary depending on the option selected. Translation option – ENG 206, COM 360, and BUS 397 (9), Applied Business option – BUS 135, MGT 340 and 12 additional hours in a single business-related concentration (18), Teacher Certification Option – EDC 150, SEC 307, PSY 360, EDT 345, EDC 345, EDC 340, SPH 340, RDS 474, and PSY/STR 486 (22)

Total Hours 9-32

Prerequisites for Required Courses: Because of the flexible structure proposed (a large share of courses could be electives, depending on the option chosen), it is not possible to anticipate or list all possible prerequisites (without looking at a specific advised degree plan), but we have included an attachment listing prerequisites for any courses that are required or specified in the program structure.

Recommended Electives in Department: The primary degree requirement (or core), B-1b, does not distinguish between required and elective courses, i.e., all courses taken under B-1b are technically electives (chosen in consultation with advisor). Similarly, option A (Second Language and Culture) involves 24 hours of electives, chosen in consultation with an advisor.

Total Hours 39

Recommended Electives in Other Departments: Specific courses and quantity will vary depending on the option selected. See attached documents for further details. Under option C (Applied Business) students select 12 hours of electives in consultation with advisors in the appropriate departments.

Total Hours 12

C. General Baccalaureate Degree Requirements - see General Baccalaureate Degree Requirements section of catalog.

Notes:

\(^1\) Students who wish to pursue a Bachelor of Arts in a language should review the catalog section on individualized majors. This option may be more attractive for students considering graduate studies or whose goals are better served by a Bachelor of Arts degree. Students should contact the Academic Assistance Office for detailed information and procedures early in their junior year.

2 If a student pursues a minor in the Department of Modern and Classical Languages it must be in a different language than the major.

3 Prerequisites may apply. Students may not apply more than 24 credit hours of College of Business coursework toward this option.

NEW PROGRAM RESOURCE INFORMATION

Program Title and Degree: Bachelor of Science in Modern Language (Comprehensive) Department: Modern and Classical Languages

Attach on separate sheets (1) statement of rationale and objectives, (2) estimated costs for first five years, and (3) complete catalog description (including new courses and course changes pending approval). [Note: For new programs requiring CBHE approval, CBHE forms NP, PS, and PG will satisfy #1 and CBHE form FP will satisfy #2.]

1. Is another program being deleted or altered?  _X_ Yes  ___No

2. If this program affects other departments or colleges, has a memo showing how it will affect them been attached to the proposal?  _X_ Yes  ___No

(Significant communication took place with all of the affected departments, and each has submitted a letter of support.)

3. What justification is being provided to support this proposal? (Current research, accreditation, certification or licensing requirements, other.)

This program is being proposed in order to streamline our current academic offerings, which comprise nine degree programs in the modern languages. The current proposal contemplates consolidating those programs into two (really a single program, but with comprehensive and non-comprehensive versions). This new design allows students more flexibility in designing their degree and the option of combining linguistic proficiency and cultural competence with a professional area, such as translation, applied business, or teacher certification. For further explanation and justification, please refer to the Statement of Rationale and Benefits and other documentation that is part of the package to be submitted to the CBHE.

4. If your response to #3 refers to existing or potential student demand, please indicate the activities undertaken to estimate or verify the potential or existing demand for this new program.

Student demand is implicit in this proposal, but as stated above, more than a new program, this proposal is a consolidation of existing programs. Therefore, the department is confident that demand will be consistent with the aggregate demand for and enrollments in its current programs. (See MDHE Form SE and other documentation that is part of the package to be submitted to the CBHE for more further information regarding demand and enrollment projections.)

5. What are the present/future projected enrollments for this program? (See also Form SE.)

1st year 140 (based on current programs)  3rd year 145

In five years, how many students must be:
a) declared minors to justify this new minors continuation  n/a
6. Which of the following would be needed to implement the proposed program? (Check all that apply.) Individuals responsible for specific areas outside of your college must be consulted.

7. Have the individuals responsible for allocation of these resources been contacted to ensure the availability of these resources by the time the program is implemented?

   X Yes    No   Yes, but cannot ensure availability

8. Referring to question 6, if additional faculty are not required, please provide a statement as to how faculty will be made available to teach proposed new courses, if any, or to manage increased enrollments in existing courses which are to be included in the proposed new program.

   Current departmental faculty resources are sufficient to staff courses in our current programs, and we anticipate that no new resources will be needed as we transition to the proposed program design. If meeting increased demand becomes an issue, particularly in Spanish, the department will advocate for a search to replace Dr. Jason Jolley, who is now department head and whose line was absorbed by COAL.

9. If the responses to question 1 and any parts of question 6 other than additional faculty are "no," please provide a statement as to how the department/school (or center or college) will manage the enrollment figures provided in question 5.

   Again, it is important to consider that this proposal relates to a degree program that is essentially a reconfiguration of several existing programs. Therefore, no additional resources (of the kind referred to in question 6) are needed.

The signature of the individuals listed below ensures that the items above have been addressed and the resources needed will be made available when the program is implemented.

1. Is another program being deleted or altered?
   __Yes  X No

2. If this program affects other departments or colleges, has a memo showing how it will affect them been attached to the proposal?
   __Yes  X No

   The program requires no courses in any other department. While some course prerequisites exist in other departments (ACC, ECO, QBA), most undergraduate business majors will have satisfied those prerequisites, or will likely be existing MBA Program participants who would have to satisfy those course prerequisites are part of their MBA Program.

3. What justification is being provided to support this proposal? (Current research, accreditation, certification or licensing requirements, other.)

   There is increased global emphasis on earning the Chartered Financial Analyst Charter, and adoption of International Financial Reporting Standards increases the need for further educational offerings in financial analysis. While the certificate requires no new courses, it does arrange the required courses in a cohesive group to allow students to document their specialized work in financial analysis.

   b) Achieve an average GPA of at least 3.50 in the following three graduate courses: FIN 780, FIN 785, FIN 787

   c) The student must submit an application (online at https://polar.missouristate.edu/2080/pol/bwskalog_p DispLoginNon).
d) Application Fee
- For first-time degree-seeking graduate students, pay the $35 non-refundable graduate application fee.
- Students applying online will be prompted to pay the fee by credit card or electronic check.
- Applicants are not required to pay the application fee if they have completed classes at Missouri State University as a graduate student.
- NOTE: applications will not be processed if the graduate application fee has not been paid

e) Transcripts
- Submit to the Graduate College one (1) official transcript showing all course work for the bachelor's degree and any graduate-level work. At minimum, the bachelor's transcript must show grades for the last 60 hours of course work. Missouri State University transcripts do not need to be requested.
- NOTE: Transcripts are not considered official unless they are received directly from the institution where the coursework was completed. A transcript that is hand-delivered by a student is considered unofficial even if it does have a seal from the institution or received in an unopened envelope. In addition, students sending transcripts while coursework for a bachelor's degree is in progress will need to send another official copy showing that they have been awarded a bachelor's degree.

4. Acceptance into this certificate program does not imply acceptance into any other Missouri State University masters or doctoral program.

The following foundation courses (or their equivalents) are considered prerequisite courses for the Graduate Certificate in Financial Analysis program:

ACC 600 – Accounting Concepts for Managers (typical equivalent is ACC 201 and ACC 211)
ECO 600 – Fundamentals of Economics (typical equivalent is ECO 155 and ECO 165)

Notes regarding proposed changes to Chapter 1 of the Faculty Handbook

Goals of the FHRC’s septennial revision of the Faculty Handbook include improving its clarity, accuracy, and consistency.

The Handbook is a document on faculty governance, and thus focuses critically on the three criteria of faculty evaluation: Teaching, Research, and Service. Those criteria are not unique to Missouri State, and certainly were not invented by the FHRC. Rather, they are the virtually universal pillars of faculty evaluation at universities across the country. There has always been, and probably always will be, variations in opinion about what fits into each of these. For example, while classroom instruction invariably falls under the category of Teaching, student advisement is sometimes recognized as a component of Teaching (as is the case at MSU), while at other times it is regarded as Service. Despite such ambiguities, nearly all institutions retain the terminology of Teaching, Research, and Service for describing key faculty duties.

Therefore, when the FHRC started revisions to the University Mission section, it seemed in the best interest of faculty to couch that mission in terms of the central duties on which faculty are evaluated: Teaching, Research, and Service. Very simply, we define the University’s Mission in terms of the faculty’s key roles and responsibilities. We believe this represents a strong justification of the faculty’s broad range of activities.

The scholarship/research/creative activity topic was one that the FHRC discussed long and hard. Anyone who has read through the Handbook has certainly encountered various combinations of those terms many times. We recognized that phrases such as “research and creative activity” and similar constructions were actually problematic for a variety of reasons. The phrase “research and creative activity” clearly implied to us that these were considered distinct. That is patently absurd. Advancement in any field requires creativity to see new connections, to explore new means of expression, and to foresee new ways of achieving ends. The nature of creative activity certainly varies between performing art and particle physics, but creativity is always essential. Likewise, all of our work depends at least to some extent on a knowledge and understanding of what came before, what its strengths and limitations were, and with a vision of what we might add to the field. Those traits of “research” are encountered across a very broad range of faculty’s activities, whether it be a sculptor discovering new ways to express an artistic concept or a biologist planning a study of factors affecting bat populations. It is also worthwhile pointing out the following passage from the current Handbook (emphasis added): “4.2.2.1. RESEARCH MISSION: The process of research is understood as the production and formal communication of original creative, scholarly work, and, while the definitions of "scholarly" and "creative" may differ across academic disciplines, …” The connection between “research” and “creativity” is already embedded in the Handbook.

Another problem with the phrase “research and creative activity” is that it is neither accurate nor inclusive. The Handbook recognizes all of the following as modes of “Research”:

- Discovery: gaining knowledge of or ascertaining the existence of something previously unknown or unrecognized
- Application: using established knowledge to solve significant problems
- Synthesis: bringing knowledge together from disparate sources to produce a whole work that is greater than the sum of its parts
- Criticism: using established values (aesthetic, logical, ethical) to evaluate quality of artifacts (e.g., art, legal decisions, news media)
• Creation: production of unique forms of expression, generation of new interpretations, theory-building, and model-building

If one considers the terms “research” and “creative activity” within narrow definitions, it is likely that “research” will be identified primarily with the first mode, and “creative activity” mainly with the last mode. At least to some extent, this view leaves out application, synthesis, and criticism. Some may argue that adding “and creative activity” is necessary to recognize contributions from the arts. In reality, the phrase uncomfortably leaves out modes of research that must be recognized. A cumbersome option would be to replace each occurrence of “research and creativity” with “activities leading to discovery, application, synthesis, criticism, or creation.”

FHRC also considered the advantages and disadvantages of using the term “scholarship” in place of “research.” We did recognize some attractive features of that term. However, if interpreted narrowly, it could still be perceived as excluding some entirely legitimate modes of research. Another concern is that, at least in some circles, scholarship is interpreted as “keeping up with one’s field” without necessarily having a connotation of contributing to it.

Ultimately, FHRC settled on the term Research – very intentionally capitalized – because it is the traditional term used to define a key duty of faculty. Section 1.1.3.2 very clearly states that we recognize that this incorporates scholarship, and that the term Research is meant to be inclusive of all modes of research. We believe that we should use the term Research consistently throughout the Handbook in place of the phrases “research and creative activity”, “scholarship, research, and creative activity”, etc., and that we should frequently remind readers that Research is meant as an expansive term that includes a very broad range of activities.

We believe that by clarifying the broad sense of Research right from the beginning, and by insisting on that broad view throughout the Handbook, that we will reinforce, rather than diminish, the appreciation of the contributions of faculty whose primary research activities center on artistic creations, as well as those whose research focuses on applications and on other modes of research.

Very simply, “Research” is ultimately the most accurate and most inclusive term for what is meant, and is also the term that is recognized across a broad range of academia.
